Peninsula Humane Society Hosting “Bunanza” Rabbit Adoption Event

April 18, 2016 (Burlingame) – On Saturday, April 30, 11 am to 6 pm, the Peninsula Humane Society & SPCA (PHS/SPCA) is hosting a “Bunanza” rabbit adoption extravaganza on the second floor of our Center for Compassion, 1450 Rollins Road in Burlingame.

The event, free to the public, will feature a few dozen rabbits available for adoption, with 50% off regular adoption fees (from $40 to $20) just for the day.

Staff and volunteers will be on hand to answer questions about rabbit care, diet, housing and housetraining. Throughout the event, we will also play brief video clips on various aspects of rabbit care.

The event is also geared toward people who are considering pairing their resident rabbit with a shelter bunny. They are encouraged to bring their resident bunny to the event. Our expert matchmakers can suggest which of our shelter rabbits might make good partners, and then facilitate introductions.

The Peninsula Humane Society & SPCA annually places 150-200 rabbits into new homes. Following dog and cat adoptions, rabbits are the most common. If properly cared for, rabbits can live 10-12 years.

To “meet” some of the available bunnies ahead of time, visit www.phs-spca.org. As is always the case, adopters should arrive at least an hour before the closing time of 6 pm to complete an adoption.
